

Creeping Phlox

Phlox diffusa

Characteristics: mat forming perennial with white, pink, lavender or purple flowers borne in spring. Height to 6 inches. Prefers full sun or dappled shade and low to moderate moisture. Very drought tolerant once established.

Native Range: Western United States.

Landscape Uses: Perennial garden, rock garden, deer resistant