

Rocky Mountain Maple

Acer glabrum

Characteristics: Small deciduous tree, often with multiple trunks. Grows to 20 feet in height. Leaves turn bright red in fall. Prefers some shade and moderate moisture.

Native Range: Western United States

Landscape Uses: Tree for small spaces, rock garden, accent plant with fall color.